

---

Subject: Group Trip Across the Atlantic

Posted by Rick Veley on Fri, 16 Jan 2015 23:20:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

This trip is something that might just be of interest to me. I have made the crossing many times, but I was coddled by company dispatchers and flew nonstop using ETOPS regs. It would be a real eye opener for my wife and she showed an interest in it. I would need her anyway - to bring me my coffee and meals then verbally abuse and ignore me so that I feel like a normal crossing. I would have to check with the company dispatchers, but there is a possibility that they could help out on some level.

The real twist involved would also be in getting more than 1 person to agree on a date going and coming and then where all the group went.

Personally I like the idea of having a raft and most likely also survival suits.

Rick

---